WHAT | A practical, strengths-based student incursion program

A 45-60min CONNECTED Communication practical workshop for students that introduces personality strengths through the lens of 'superpowers'. Students explore four ways of thinking and communicating, discover their own 'Top 2' personality strengths and learn how to connect with other people who may have different strengths. They also work with their teacher to build a Class Profile Map which they can refer to post session.

WHY | Build understanding. Strengthen connection.

Give your school a shared language for strengths, differences and everyday communication. Students practice recognising what helps or hinders connection, how to give meaningful praise to others, and effective ways to ask for help. The focus is on self-awareness, inclusion, positive relationships and learning.

HOW | One day. Up to 500 students#.

Five 45-60min cohort sessions across the school day, with up to 100 students per session*. The practical workshop session combines engaging visuals, guided reflection, elbow partner and small group discussion, and practical communication activities. Two clear learning themes: Learning About Myself and Learning About Others.

* Small schools can combine cohort sessions across 2 year levels if needed.

WHO | Students in Years 2 - 12

For students in Years 2 - 12, with up to 100 students attending each workshop session. Prep & Grade 1 Class Profile Maps are completed via Teacher Ratings (instead of via Student Ratings) in separate PL session.
